6. (Secret - JMW) Talked with Senators Henry M. Jackson (D., Wash.), Daniel B. Brewster (D., Md.), and Howard Cannon (D., Nev.) and inquired about their reactions to yesterday's briefing by the DCL. Senator Jackson indicated he had telephoned the Director and discussed it with him. He added, however, that it was a good briefing, that it was very timely and that he regretted he had to leave before he could ask his questions. Senator Cannon indicated that he thought this was a most informative briefing particularly for those members who had not been exposed to certain matters about which he knew. He was referring to TKIL. Senator Brewster stated it was a most informative briefing. He felt the members needed this type of information in order to discharge their responsibilities properly.

Talked with Senator Cannon who inquired if arrangements could be made for him to visit the special project area on the 25th of January. I stated I would check into this and be in touch with him. Mr. Cannon also evidenced an interest in meeting with Agency people showing particular interest in Soviet satellite activities. His interest centered around a few of the questions he asked of the Director in yesterday's hearing. He said he would like to arrange this early in February. He was told we will follow up on this one.

In talking with Senator Brewster he evidenced an interest in visiting the Agency again as he had last year accompanied by his Administrative Assistant, John Sullivan. He particularly would like to go over in more detail certain of the special material covered in yesterday's briefing. He suggested a date of 16 January and we will confirm this.

7. (Secret - JMW) Discussed with both William Darden of Senate Armed Services Committee staff and William Woodruff of Senate Appropriations Committee staff the question of storage of the transcript of yesterday's hearing. After considerable discussion, it was agreed in light of the special classifications involved that on an informal basis the Agency would maintain custody making the transcript available whenever there is need by either of the Committees. In addition, Mr. Darden requested a brief discussion of the substance of the regulations which require handling of this material beyond the normal procedures followed by the Committee. We agreed to provide this. Also it was agreed that we would make available a copy of the transcript during the days when Secretary McNamara is testifying before Appropriations. We also discussed arranging for appropriate briefings and clearance procedures in the special categories which will be accomplished later in the week.
